New school plan due board okay

Formal plans for a $1.3 million elementary school to be constructed in the north part of the Canyon school district will be reviewed Tuesday night by Canyon school board members.

Cantrell & Associates, an Amarillo architectural firm, is to present the plans for board consideration.

Supt. Jerry Jacobs said the plans will not differ significantly from plans tentatively approved in late May prior to a $3 million bond issue to finance the construction.

"It's the same concept and still the same basic design," Jacobs said.

The board junked controversial plans for an open classroom concept elementary school after voters turned down two bond issue proposals at the ballot box in December 1975 and February 1976.

The new plans presented prior to the last bond issue called for 18 classrooms for grades 1 through six and kindergarten and special education facilities.

The school is to handle 600 students. It will be located on a tract of land at Sundown Lane and Western about a mile south of Gene Howe Elementary School in the north part of the district. The building is to have 41,100 square feet.

Cost of the school is estimated by architects at $1,170,000. Furniture and equipment is to cost about $105,000.

Other items on Tuesday night's board agenda also revolve around the upcoming sale of the $3 million in bonds voted in May.

A record $4 million budget for the 1976-77 school year is to be approved following a scheduled public hearing on the proposal.

The budget includes $3.7 million in revenue from local and state sources and $3.7 million in expenditures.

The board is also to formally vote on a new tax rate for the upcoming year. The current tax rate is $1.92 and in 1975 the rate was applied to 40 percent of the tax roll value of property.

However, last spring board members voted to up the ratio of assessment from the 40 percent level to 80 percent.

Last week, board members were told by School Business Manager Ronnie Wood the new tax rate to support the anticipated 76-77 budget should be $1.20 per $100.

That amounts to a 25 percent increase in taxes for the year.

A new tax roll for the upcoming year is also to be approved Tuesday night.

The board is hurrying through various financial and budgetary items this month so they'll be prepared to make a presentation on July 25 to two bonding agencies in New York City to obtain a bond rating for the $3 million issue.

Other items scheduled for board discussion Tuesday night include:

*A project involving construction of six tennis courts north of the Canyon High school campus.

*School participation in paving of Sundown Lane.

*An executive session to consider applications for the job of school superintendent.

Jacobs said no formal applications have yet been received for his replacement.

The board meets at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the school administration building in downtown Canyon.

Just peachy

Richard Root found a feast when he took his first bite of a tree ripened peach this week. He seemed to agree with oldtimers that "tree ripened peaches are the best." The youngster is the son of Greg and Cheryl Root of 1304 4th Avenue, Canyon.

Board gives criteria for new supt.

The Canyon school board is seeking "an outstanding educational leader" to be superintendent here.

That's the wording in a two-page memorandum prepared by the board during executive session last week and given the press Wednesday afternoon.

The outline of criteria for appointment as replacement for Supt. Jerry Jacobs, who resigned Tuesday night to accept a similar position in Raymondville in South Texas, contains a long list of attributes which must be possessed by any candidate for the position.

The board told Jacobs Tuesday his resignation would be effective within 30 days or as soon as a variety of projects related to the sale of $3 million in bonds for construction of new schools is completed.

An acceptable applicant for the position must be in good health and be between the ages of 35 and 50, according to the guidelines.

The guidelines stipulate that the applicant must have at least a master's degree with a major in education administration and must hold a valid Texas teacher's certificate with superintendent's endorsement.

In addition, the applicant must have a minimum of five years of successful administrative experience in public schools as an assistant superintendent or superintendent.

Other professional criteria include "knowledge and skills related to curriculum development, staff development, fiscal management, community relations and school facilities development and utilization"; "successful experience involving central office responsibilities and direct involvement with the board of trustees"; and a "solid record as an educational leader as well as an administrator."

Other professional qualifications approved by the board:

*Skill in developing a personnel program that results in the selection of the best teachers and administrators available, continuous development and improvement of personnel and objective, form valuation of personnel.

*The ability to obtain high quality professional performance of employees as individuals and as a staff and to inculcate respect for the integrity of the staff.

*Skill in establishing a supportive and productive working relationship with certified and supportive personnel of the district.

*Demonstrated competence in planning, developing, communicating and directing a sound long-range financial program through modern management procedures and control.

*Ability to follow through on plans, keeping all appropriate people informed, and seeking diligently to improve the school system.

*A vigorous, decisive and mature yet approachable leadership style that commands respect for the board of trustees, highly qualified faculty and staff, parents, and community groups.

*Awareness of the issues confronting education today and a willingness to express personal positions on them.

*Communication skills including competency in public speaking. The superintendent must be able to explain educational needs and district programs to patrons and be willing to be visible in the community and the schools.

County treasurer McClendon arrested, threatens civil suit

By LAURIE TELFAIR

Randall County Treasurer Robert E. McClendon, charged early Thursday with disorderly conduct in Amarillo, said Friday he will file a civil lawsuit for damages against the arresting officers, a motel and the City of Amarillo.

McClendon hinted at the possibility criminal charges could be filed against the officers involved also.

He was arrested at 3:05 a.m. Thursday after he was accused of creating a disturbance at the all-night TraveLodge Restaurant.

McClendon was released on a $50 property bond and later Thursday pleaded innocent in Amarillo Municipal Court to charges of disorderly conduct and using profane and abusive language. Trial was set for Oct. 8.

"We have or will have a very substantial lawsuit filed," McClendon told The News Friday. He said defendants will be TraveLodge Motel, Amarillo Policemen Rick Folley and Richard Webb and the City of Amarillo.

The treasurer said that "some members of the prosecution are looking into the possibility of filing criminal charges against the officers involved.

"I'm having an independent investigation made," he said. "As far as I'm concerned, I am most willing to let the chips fall where they may, I'm very confident. I know what the facts are."

Asked if he was aware of the McClendon case, Potter County Attorney Kerry Knorpp withheld comment.

"We, as a matter of course, look into anything that might come within our jurisdiction," he said. "But it would be ethically improper for me to comment at this time."

According to the police incident report, Amarillo police officers Rick Folley and Richard Webb answered a call from the restaurant manager, Thelma Oleta Abel. Arriving, they were told that McClendon had been abusive to the waitress and had thrown dishes on the floor.

McClendon was asked to leave the restaurant and refused, according to the police report. He continued to create a disturbance, the report continues, and was escorted from the room by police.

Outside, he was taken to the patrol car and struggled with one of the officers until he was handcuffed forcibly, police reported.

At the jail, McClendon complained that his arm had been hurt in the handcuffing and asked to be taken to a hospital, according to police. He was taken to Northwest Texas Hospital for x-rays, treated with an ice-pack for a sprained arm, and was

Museum connector again sought from state

The Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum will ask legislators again next year to provide funding for a new entrance and connector building to link the museum with the museum annex.

The museum seeks a special appropriation of $380,000 for the next biennium to finance construction of a two-level connector building which would run between the museum and annex facing 4th Avenue.

A special appropriation of $5,000 is also asked in the current appropriations request prepared by Director Dr. James A. Hanson for construction of a parking lot between the buildings to accommodate museum visitors.

Hanson is seeking an appropriation of $637,798 for the first year of the biennium to be financed by the next session and $275,000 for the second year.

The museum is budgeted $209,000 for the current year.

During the last legislative session, the museum requested special funding for a connector building for the museum complex. The request was nixed, however.

The connecting addition would include 4,000 square feet of floor space on a basement level and 4,000 square feet on a ground level to provide a common entrance to the two-building complex.

According to the budget justification for the request, the connector would allow visitors to view the contents of both buildings without having to walk outside and would provide space for an additional exhibit hall and central offices.

In the budget narrative, Hanson says the museum staff would construct a Hall of Agriculture on the ground level of the proposed addition.

Other funding is requested to allow the museum staff to complete several projects now underway or planned for the next biennium.

Hanson says in the budget narrative that the staff will begin work on five major exhibits during the upcoming biennium.

The Hall of Historic Fashions will be constructed on the second

No tax increase seen for city hospital district

There'll be no tax increase next year for residents of the South Randall County Hospital District, if Administrator Ray Grimes has his way.

Grimes said Friday he plans no tax increase for taxpayers in figuring the 1976-77 hospital district budget.

The hospital district hiked taxes slightly last year along with the county and school district. County and school district are each hiking taxes by about 25 percent for the coming year.

"There's no reason we can't get by on what we've got," Grimes said.

Hospital board members are to set the tax rate at their July 19 meeting. A budget proposal for the upcoming year is also to be presented for consideration.

The hospital district, which derives the bulk of its funds from operation of Palo Duro Hospital, has the lowest tax rate of any entity in the county.

The rate is 28 cents per $100 valuation on 51 percent of market value.

Last year's tax hike of three cents per $100 was necessitated because the hospital district joined with the City of Canyon and Randall County in contracting with Canyon Ambulance Service for ambulance service in the

Johnson files suit against Stevens

A Canyon man shot the day after Christmas at a local motel has filed a civil suit against another local man seeking nearly $200,000 in damages.

Douglas Craig Johnson, 18, filed suit in 181st District Court here against Julius Caesar Stevens, also of Canyon.

Stevens has been charged with attempted murder in connection with the Dec. 26, 1976, incident at the Buffalo Motel. Stevens has been indicted and now awaits trial.

During an examining trial conducted in April before Justice of the Peace W.A. "Bill" Wilson, Johnson testified he was shot by Stevens during the early morning hours of Dec. 26 after going to the motel to retrieve a necklace from a girl at the motel.

He alleges in the civil suit that Stevens shot him.

"As a proximate result of defendant's attack on plaintiff, plaintiff suffered physical pain and mental anguish to his damage in the sum of $125,000," the suit alleges. "As a further proximate result of defendant's attack on plaintiff, plaintiff was unable to work at his usual occupation to his further damage in the sum of $5,000."

Johnson also alleges that as a result of the shooting, he sustained doctor and hospital bills totalling $12,000. He alleges he is entitled to $50,000 in exemplary damages.

Matthis heading for convention, but predicts it'll only be dull

Canyon's Dave Matthis heads for New York City today for what he expects to be a "relatively uninteresting" Democratic National Convention.

Matthis, a professor of political science at West Texas State University, is a delegate to the national convention committed to supporting Presidential Hopeful Jimmy Carter.

"It looks like a dull convention," Matthis said Friday. "He (Carter already has all the delegates wrapped up."

Carter, a Georgia peanut farmer and former governor, is expected to win a first ballot nomination from his party to take on the Republican nominee in November.

Matthis, who has been involved in state and local politics since the 1950s, became a delegate for Carter during the party's primary election last spring.

His name was on the ballot as one of three committed Carter delegates from the Panhandle district.

While Matthis expects little controversy during the convention over the presidential nominee of the party, he said other side issues on the platform of the party could be interesting.

One fight he foresees is an effort by women delegates to the convention to include in the rules for the next convention a rule that requires that 50 per cent of the delegates to the convention be women in 1980.

"I'm going to vote against that," Matthis said firmly. "I don't see why a person should be a delegate just because she's a woman."

Matthis anticipates no credential fights during the convention.

He does expect an effort by a group within the party to include in the platform some statement about the right to life and an anti-abortion constitutional amendment.

"I doubt that they can get enough delegates to get it on the floor," he predicted. "They couldn't get it on the floor in Houston. In fact they couldn't get it passed in the Randall County convention."

The convention begins Monday night and Mat-

Bronte name traced

By CARROLL WILSON

A letter last week from Ben Oglesby of the Bronte Enterprise helps explain to an extent the origins of Bronte and Tennyson, two small towns north of San Angelo.

Apparently someone from hereabouts sent Oglesby a copy of my column query a couple of weeks ago wondering about the names of the two central Texas towns.

"All the information I can gather indicates that Bronte, Blackwell and Tennyson were named by an Englishman who must have been a real literature buff," Oglesby writes. "Before Bronte received its present name back in the 1800s, it was called Broncho, and a school by that name was located east of the present location of the town. The business section and most of the residential section were located west of the present townsite until the railroad came through here."

Oglesby sends along a copy of an undated column by Texas Traveller Frank X. Tolbert of the Dallas Morning News concerning Bronte.

Tolbert says it is apparently agreed by all that Bronte was named for the English novelist, Charlotte Bronte.

He says he talked with a Bronte area historican who claims Bronte was definitely named for Charlotte by an official of the old Kansas City, Mexico & Orient Railroad. Nobody remembers or knows the fellow's name.

Frankly, I had the impression as the wife and I drove through Bronte late one evening two weeks ago that the town must've been named for Charlotte's sister, Emily.

Both wrote classics in English literature, Charlotte having penned Jane Eyre and Emily the dark and foreboding novel, Wuthering Heights.

It was nearly dusk as we wound through scrub mesquite hills and into Bronte. The skies were overcast, the clouds sagging low on the horizon.

We expected to see a scowling Heathcliff. It almost gave me chills.

Tolbert includes a side note in his column about Bronte. Most English teachers I've had pronounce the name "Bron-tay." Tolbert says that in Bronte, Texas, the local folks pronounce it as if the "e" weren't there.

The idea of the U.S. Postal Service spending a half-million dollars or so to build a new post office in Canyon, while at the same time facing deficits so horrendous that postal rates climb inexorably higher, is patently ridiculous.

The current post office is one of those structures built to last two or three lifetimes, a sturdy building constructed at a time when things were made to last.

If government spending, and particularly the variety of spending so wastefully characterized by the postal service, is to be controlled and halted, it won't be done by the bureaucrats in Washington or Dallas.

The people must tell their representatives to hold the line by checking the bureaucrats.

An ad in this paper asks that the people of Canyon tell the elected officials in Washington what they think about a new post office here.

Clip it out, and send your remarks to the men listed. Perhaps they'll finally get the message.

Reader Donnell slams hike in county taxes

Dear Editor:

County Road Supt., County Administrator, Re-appraisal Big-Wig and anybody or anything the commission can come up with to get somebody else to do. Oh! Yes! "Custom Combining."

My hat goes off to Paul Lindsey — he's out checking the county roads and needs. He thinks a lot of elected officers need to remember their obligation or oath of office, what they are being paid to do — not what or who they can hire to do their work.

I am told, the county bought a new maintainer last year when they didn't even need it or have an operator to put on it! (Spend our money and cry for more).

How many years has it been since your property has been measured and re-evaluated? All the county boys need to do is add on the 'inflation formula' that they should be paying the folks who we are hiring and that are doing our work. They aren't being overpaid.

Add on taxes and later cut back? Seems like I remember the City using that formula, they took on a library they should have left in the hands of the county and built a big new annex with the surplus the city accumulated and now they are upping it for more.

JUST WHERE DO YOU SUPPOSE FOLKS ARE GOING TO COME UP WITH THAT KIND OF MONEY??

"Robbing Peter to Pay Paul" — spend $250,000 to up the taxes of senior citizens to pay for it. Let's fire the commission and hire us a 'boy' to run the county. How many $250,000 do they need? I don't have it. Do you?

Reeves Donnell

Thanks to News for coverage

Dear Carroll,

I would like to take this opportunity to thank The Canyon News and especially Mrs. Lorena Miller, for the outstanding coverage of the Bicentennial activities. I know the newspaper coverage was responsible in large part for the wonderful crowd that turned out.

There are many individuals and organizations whose efforts made our nation's 200th birthday celebration a success. It has been almost axiomatic that the Bicentennial has been overly commercialized. I hope everyone who participated in the day's events noted that the only cost involved were to defray necessary expenses such as the Chamber of Commerce Barbecue.

In places of statues of George Washington and Paul Revere made in Taiwan or red, white and blue "schlock", we were treated to a true festival. The creative quilt display put together by the Sue Hite Club was a taste of colonial America, and festival goers enjoyed the early American tasting tea sponsored by the Heritage Club. Other historic demonstrations such as the making of lye soap and the fine art of washing clothes and other projects were solely for the enrichment of the community residents in the true spirit of the Bicentennial.

Everywhere the planning committee turned asking for help to make our celebration special, we received overwhelming response. There are many thank you's to be made. Just to mention a few: Taylors, Cooper's and Ideal Grocery Stores for providing the cooling watermelons for the afternoon contests, to Stevens' Flowers for providing and planting the beautiful flowers around the Connor Park flagpole and time capsule, to those members of the Canyon High School Band that banded together to provide music for the parade, to the City Manager Glen Metcalf and the city staff that had Conner Park ready for such a fine turnout of residents. And especially to everyone who wasn't "bored with the Bicentennial" — who made the spirit of this community and this nation a reality — a big thank you.

Our world

Smokers are offensive

By ANN BROWN

Americans as a rule are nice people. Only a small percent in any given class or locality are intentionally rude, offensive, or insulting to friends or associates.

Rare indeed is the American who would walk into his neighbor's house with muddy shoes, and track mud across the carpet.

As soon as the mud dries, however, it can be cleaned up without a trace.

The same thoughtful man, who carefully removes his shoes lest he smudge the carpet, thinks nothing of lighting up a cigarette, cigar, or pipe. His smoke — whatever it is — may burn a hole in the carpet or furniture, which can never be repaired, or he could burn down the house.

But whether he burns anything at all, he is certain to damage the lungs of his hosts, and every growing plant in the house.

Tobacco smoke has some strange qualities. The car or home of habitual smokers retains no noticable offensive odor.

But smoke just one cigarette in the house or car of nonsmokers, and the odor of rancid smoke will linger for days. If the closets are not deodorized immediately, the clothes will smell of smoke for 2 or 3 weeks.

Now these are facts the smoker has no way of knowing. With his lungs constantly filled with fresh smoke, naturally he can't smell the stale kind.

Surely no smoker wants to intentionally befoul the home or car of his nonsmoking friends. And few nonsmokers make an issue of it for fear of offending the smokers.

But after generations of silently enduring the offensive smoke, a few patient nonsmokers, like the worm have turned.

Encouraged by the frightening reports from unbiased scientists as to the danger of smoke to the nonsmoker as well as to house plants, a few of them have posted no smoking signs in their homes and business houses.

The majority of the signs were probably posted under the impression that the smoker did not want to smoke in an area where smoke was offensive. And that is true of many smokers.

The die-hard cigarette addicts, however, who prefer death, regardless of how horrible, to life without cigarettes, may be highly offended at any restriction on their smoking.

Many addicts refuse to return to the home of a friend who asks them not to smoke in the house. They forget about the many years the friend has silently endured their offensive smoke.

People who ask you not to smoke in their homes, offices, or cars do not purposely offend you. They make their requests on the assumption that you do not want to be offensive.

In addition to being irritated by the smoke they are forced to breathe, many nonsmokers suffer violent sick headaches any time they are subjected to smoke.

A few people are so allergic to smoke that they become deathly ill. Only an allergy shot from their doctor will relieve their suffering.

Before smokers take offense at no smoking signs, they might at least inquire into the reaction to smoke of the people who posted the sign.

A migraine headache that lasts from 1 to 3 days is bad enough. Add to the physical discomfort, the loss of work time (and pay), the medical bills, and the general inconvenience.

Regardless of your devotion to the noxious weed, do you really want to inflict such suffering on your friends — or even your worst enemies?

Had a party? Or giving one? Tell The Canyon News about it. Telephone 655-7121, or stop by the News office on the south side of the square.

Summer nuptials read

White daisies, carnations and baby's breath decorated the sanctuary of the First United Methodist Church of Canyon Saturday evening as Miss Debra Ann Nash and Timothy Dale Crown exchanged double ring marriage vows.

Rev. Bill Kent officiated at the ceremony and Mrs. Glenn Dowlen was organist presenting appropriate nuptial marches and other traditional selections. Mr. and Mrs. Larry Nash of 1406 8th Street, Canyon are parents of the bride and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Crown of 3908 Barclay, Amarillo are parents of the bridegroom.

The floral decorations were set in baskets with daisies, carnations and blue baby's breath decorating the reception table in the church parlor afterwards.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride chose an empire waisted floorlength wedding dress which featured a bodice of sheer lace. The sheer long sleeves were accented with wide lace cuffs and the hemline of the softly flowing skirt was framed with a wide lace border. The skirt was framed with a brief wedding train and the bride's tiered illusion veil was framed with wide lace matching the trim of the wedding gown. The veil cascaded below the bride's waistline and she carried a nosegay arrangement of daisies, carnations, and roses with baby's breath. She completed the traditional marriage by wearing a pearl ring belonging to her grandmother Nash as "something old" and using her mother's pearl necklace for "something borrowed" along with the wedding dress as "something new" and the traditional wedding garter as "something blue."

Linda Nash, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor and wore a pink floor length dress with pink hat. She carried a stem of daisies with greenery and baby's breath.

Janet Wilhelm of Dalhart was bridesmaid. She wore a baby blue floor length dress with matching blue hat and carried a stem of daisies with greenery and baby's breath.

Tom Crown, brother of the bridegroom from Amarillo, served as best man and groomsman was Steve Ross, also of Amarillo. Ushering duties were handled by Bill Nash of Canyon, the bride's brother, and Grover Brillhart of Canyon.

The parlor of the church was the setting for the wedding reception as Linda Crown of Nashport, Ohio served at the guest book. The table was set with a tiered wedding cake with miniature bride and groom on the top tier. A floral arrangement of daisies, carnations and baby's breath centered the table. Wedding guests were served by Maurine Bonds of Canyon and Sheryl Brown of Umbarger.

The bride changed to a white skirt suit following the wedding reception for the honeymoon trip to Eagle's Nest in New Mexico. They will visit the mountain area and visit surrounding towns before establishing their home at Canyon Creek Apartments in mid-July.

A spring graduate of Canyon High School, the bride was in the marching band and concert band, active in Future Teachers of America and served as a past worthy advisor for the Rainbow Girls. She is presently employed with McDonald's Restaurant in Canyon and plans to attend West Texas State University for business courses this fall.

The bridegroom graduated from Canyon High School in 1974. He was active in both bands at the high school and at West Texas State University, where he is a junior. He is also a member of Alpha Zeta honorary and is a general agriculture major at the university. He is presently employed with Center Plains Industries.

Newlyweds honored at reception

Miss Mendy Kay Sternenberg and James David Alair exchanged double ring marriage vows on June 25th at Springlake, Texas in the home of Rev. Glen Smith, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Springlake, as he officiated at the rites.

For her wedding, the bride wore a floor length gown of candlelight gauze featuring a front panel of candlelight American lace from shoulder to hemline. The matching lace sleeves were sheer to a long fitted coff bordered with a braided edge. The simulated keyhole neckline was also bordered with braided lace and the free flowing skirt was edged with a deep full ruffle forming a chapel sweep.

Witnessing the ceremony were Johnny Alair and Eddy Alair, brothers of the bridegroom, Mrs. Eddie Alair, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Glen Smith, wife of the officiating pastor.

The bride is a 1973 graduate of Canyon High School and formerly attended West Texas State University. The bridegroom, a graduate of Springlake High School, formerly attended Texas Tech University at Lubbock and is co-owner of Alair Custom Enterprises at Springlake. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T.E. Alair of Springlake.

A wedding reception for the newlyweds was held in the patio and garden area of the W.W. Sternenberg home at #8 Edgewood Lane in Canyon.

The home of the bride's parent's was decorated with green drapes forming the background for the serving tables as the bride's table was centered with a footed silver epergne with yellow and white daisies and baby's breath. The four-tiered wedding cake was arranged atop a mirror and frosted with pale yellow frosting with deeper yellow roses, fresh daisies and baby's breath accenting the top tier. Pineapple and orange punch was served from a crystal punch powl and silver bowls bearing yellow and green mints completed the bride's table.

Mrs. James David Alair
nee Mendy Kay Sternenberg

The groom's table featured a large chocolate cake and a silver service where coffee was served. Melon balls, smoked turkey and marinated shrimp were served on silver trays, which were centered around a silver pitcher with gladioli and daisies.

Guests were seated in the yard area at small tables covered with assorted summer colored cloths during the occasion.

Hosting the reception party were Mrs. J. Manly Bryan, Mrs. John Coleman, Mrs. Troy Don Collier, Mrs. Harold Erwin, Mrs. Jack Haley, Jr., Miss Mary Kate Keeling, Mrs. Keith Keeling, Mrs. Tom R. Keeling, Mrs. T.H. Lair, Mrs. John McNeill, Mrs. R.C. McNeill, Mrs. R.W. McNeill, Mrs. Tom Platt, Mrs. Vance Robinson, Mrs. Al Sternenberg, Mrs. Jack Taylor, Mrs. Murphy White and Mrs. Ed Woodard.

Afternoon nuptial ceremonies unite couple at area church

The First Baptist Church of Happy was the scene of the ceremony which united in marriage Janie Marie Whitlow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale D. Whitlow of Happy, and Glenn Edward Ramaekers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Ramaekers of Nazareth.

The afternoon rites were read at 5:00 o'clock, July 10, with the Rev. Paul Heil, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Happy, officiating.

The altar area was decorated with Gothic window panels accented with three arch candelabras with white candles and decorated with greenery. Lining the bridal path were round topiaries with arrangements of baby's breath, white spider mums, peach carnations, and white daisies.

The aisle candelabrum were also decorated with small topiaries. A small silver bowl with peach carnations, white daisies and baby's breath adorned the registration table where Mrs. Bill Whitlow registered guests.

Mrs. Clovis Vernon was organist and played traditional marches. Barry Stevens of Canyon sang, The Twelfth of Never and We've Only Just Begun. While the couple knelt before a profile kneeling bench, The Lord's Prayer was sung.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of silk organza and peau de soie lace designed with a fitted Victorian bodice with sheer inset and closely fitted neckline. Her sheer full sleeves were attached to wide lace cuffs. Her full organza skirt was framed at the hemline with accenting Alencon lace. Her skirt swept into back fullness and cascaded into a full chapel train. She wore a matching lace caplet with a fingertip veil of illusion.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade of sonja roses with stepanotis and baby's breath. The groom wore a boutonniere of sonja roses and baby's breath.

For "something old," the bride wore an engagement ring belonging to her mother. "Something new" was a white bible, a gift from her great aunt. "Something borrowed" was a pair of diamond earrings from her aunt, Mrs. Robert Lee; and a handkerchief that her paternal grandmother had carried in her wedding. "Something blue" was the traditional blue garter and she wore a sixpence in her shoe along with two pennies minted the year of the couples birth.

Maid of Honor was Shelly Oxhandler, Ft. Worth. She wore a floor length dress of tea rose Nyesta and carried a nosegay of sonja roses, white daisy poms and baby's breath. Her picture hat was decorated with matching flowers.

Bridesmaids were Kim King, Nazareth; Connie Hand, Happy; Pam Andrews, Happy; and Becky Stubblefield, Happy. All wore dresses styled like the maid-of-honor's, and hats with matching flowers.

Ringbearer was Jason Whitlow, nephew of the bride. Flower girl was Marla Ramaekers, sister of the groom.

Best Man was Rex Ramaekers of Nazareth, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Gordon Wilhelm, Stanley Gerber, Bryan Finck, and Larry Ramaekers all of Nazareth.

Ushers were Bill Whitlow and Jim Whitlow, brothers of the bride, and Kelvin Kleman of Nazareth. Male attendants wore brown tuxedos with apricot shirts.

The bride's mother wore a floor length dress of peach polyester with a corsage of white sweetheart roses. The mother of the groom selected a brown and apricot cotton polyester with flowing butterfly sleeves and a corsage of white sweetheart roses.

At the reception in fellowship hall, the bridal table was

Double ring rites read

Miss Cheryl Ann Bullard and Edward Wayne Duncan, Jr., pledged marriage vows in a double ring ceremony Friday evening, July 9, at the Pleasant Valley Baptist Church of Amarillo.

Rev. Charles Ivey, pastor of the church, officiated at the nuptial rites uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B.J. Bullard of 701 8th Avenue, Canyon with the son of Edward Duncan, Sr., and Mrs. Doris Nusbaum, both of Amarillo.

The empire waistline and short puffed sleeves were trimmed with lace and pearls and the dress culminated with a wedding train trimmed in matching lace and pearls. Her illusion bridal veil was also trimmed with lace and pearls and also formed a train behind the dress.

Vicki Welborn attended the bride as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Judy Hunt and LaZane Jennings. The attendants were gowned in floor length empire waisted dresses with skirts of solid yellow and bodices featuring yellow under white lace in a flowered pattern. The bridesmaids had sheer yellow sleeves while the maid of honor had sheer white sleeves. Their bouquets were yellow and white daisies.

Goodwill gesture returns money to rightful owner

By LORENA MILLER

A goodwill gesture by Goodwill Industries in Amarillo this week resulted in a Canyon woman retrieving $120 in cash which had been unknowingly deposited in a local collection container.

While sorting through clothes in a large canvas cart Tuesday morning Goodwill Industries employee Brenda McCarty found three envelopes, which when opened, contained two bank deposit slips and six crisp $20 bills.

Both deposit slips bore the signature of Tommie C. Burgess and contained an account number at the bank. Goodwill executive director Willis Williams and an administrative aide, Marilyn Williams (no relation), proceeded to conduct the investigation to find the owner of the misplaced money.

After calling the bank in Canyon, Mrs. Williams learned there was no account still in existence for a Tommie C. Burgess. After talking with a bank teller, Mrs. Williams learned that Mrs. Burgess had died in March and further learned that Mrs. Burgess' daughter, Mrs. R.L. Glanton, resides in Canyon and operates Marie's Seventh Avenue Beauty Salon.

Mrs. Glanton confirmed that she had given a truckload of her mother's clothing — including unused women's hosiery — to Goodwill recently.

Wednesday afternoon, while styling the hair of a customer, Mrs. Glanton took time out to accept the return of the $120 in cash along with the carbon deposit slips which had been made out by her mother in December 1974 and April 1975.

The money was returned to Mrs. Glanton by Mrs. Williams, a native of Canyon, who was with her own mother, Mrs. S.H. Condron.

"This was the third time we've found money in with clothing," related Mrs. Williams, "and it's by far the largest amount ever found in our containers."

"People always think of giving us clothes, not money — but we do take money and in fact we depend to a certain extent on donations, trust funds and things of that nature to buy our larger equipment," concluded Mrs. Williams.

Chamber meet set Monday

Chamber of Commerce board members will meet Monday night to hear reports on the recent Canyon Days celebration and a decision on a firm to perform a feasibility study for industrial development.

The board is to meet at 6:30 p.m. Monday at the community center.

Roland Black, manager of the chamber, said discussion will center on financial reports from the July 3rd bicentennial celebration.

A report will also be given concerning a meeting held Thursday night to select a top applicant firm for interviewing in connection with the feasibility study of industrial development.

Black said Friday several members of the chamber board met and the Canyon Industrial Foundation met Thursday night to go over proposals from various firms to perform a feasibility study of industrial park sites in the city.

One firm was selected to be interviewed later, before a final recommendation is sent the federal Economic Development Administration for consideration.

The chamber is asking for a $5,000 grant to finance a study of potential industrial park sites, the impact of industry on Canyon and other ramifications of industrial development on the community.

The firms which have sent proposals to accomplish the project have all bid under the $5,000 figure, Black said.

Board request on agenda

City commissioners will consider Monday night a request from the school board to use five or six feet of city right of way for the tennis courts to be built between the high school and junior high.

City manager Glen Metcalf has recommended approval of the land use.

Commissioners will also consider final plat of the second Tierra Blanca Addition, and will be asked to accept the resignation of Ken Olsen from the planning and zoning commission.

Also on the city's agenda will be a request from Wayne Wirt to pave part of a block of alleyway, and a request from Jim Brown for water line extension.

An executive session will follow the meeting to hear a complaint against a city employee.

The city commissioners will meet at 7 p.m. at the civic complex.

Superior rating to go to Canyon High FFA

Canyon's Future Farmers of America Chapter will receive the Superior Chapter Rating Award sponsored by the National FFA Awards Program during the state convention next week in Dallas.

The chapter was rated on the past year's activities and accomplishments which included leadership and judging contests, chapter meetings, livestock exhibits, fund raising, charity projects, and public relations.

The 115 Canyon FFA chapter members represented Canyon High school and FFA in competition on the district, area and state level in various contests, competing against about 60,000 other FFA members from across the state.

Canyon FFA members were recognized on the state level with two members receiving the Lone Star Farmer Awards. The state FFA convention will be held July 14-16 in the Dallas Convention Center in Dallas.

Turtles in for a closer look

The Panhandle's turtles are going to have a friend, or at least an observer, in Dr. Flavius Killebrew, new West Texas State University assistant professor of biology.

"I find them interesting," Killebrew says. "There is not a whole lot known about how they fit into the ecology."

The turtle is relatively unchanged by evolution as compared to many other animals, the biology instructor says. The reptile has been around at least since the Permian age more than 225,000,000 years ago.

Killebrew will focus his research on the five local species, and "try to keep records on what is here."

He also hopes to study a new species of turtle which has been found in a river system in the southern part of the state.

The herpetologist began his studies at West Texas State University, and earned a master's degree there before going on to the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville for his doctoral degree.

His dissertation dealt with "the skeleton as a taxonomic characteristic in turtles," Killebrew says. "Taxonomy is a tool to figure out what things you can use to differentiate animals."

He has also published 14 articles on his chromosome research with turtles, as well as several books on human anatomy for use in nursing and physics classes at Arkansas.

While at Arkansas, he taught classes as well as served as assistant curator of zoology at the university's museum.

Killebrew will teach classes in freshman biology, ichthyology and herpetology at West Texas State.

Double ring ceremony read at Skellytown

Mrs. Jeffrey Alan Brown
nee Linda Jane Preble

Double ring marriage ceremonies were read Saturday evening, June 26, at the First Baptist Church of Skellytown uniting Miss Veronica May Sturgill and E. Lynn Cook of Canyon.

Rev. John Goss, Jr., of Tucumcari Baptist Church, officiated at the ceremonies. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Sturgill of Skellytown and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Cook of Goldsmith, Texas.

An archway of greenery with peach and yellow carnations decorated the sanctuary. Flanking each side of the archway were spiral candelabrum. The organist was Sandra Davis with Mike Chapley as vocalist presenting For Baby and Colour My World.

For her wedding, the bride chose a formal gown of candlelight crepe styled with a Sweetheart neckline and full bishop sleeves. A panel of chantilly lace adorned the front of the wedding gown as the bride carried a cascade arrangement of peach rosebuds and yellow carnations. Her wedding veil was made of sheer chiffon and edged with scalloped lace flowing into a bridal train.

The traditions of marriage were carried out by the bride wearing her father's senior class ring on the right hand as "something old," her bridal gown as "something new," a bridal garter as "something blue" and carried a white Bible from her friend as "something borrowed." She also wore a heart shaped opal necklace and matching earrings which were a gift from the bridegroom.

The bride's cousins, Miss Monica Appleton and Terry Honeycutt, both of Pampa, served as the flowergirl and ringbearer for the wedding rites.

Roxanne Forney of Booker, Texas served as the maid of honor and wore a long formal gown of yellow crepe knit as she carried a nosegay of yellow carnations. Bridesmaids were Miss Cathy Bonner of Panhandle and Miss Debbie Goss of Tucumcari, New Mexico. The bridesmaids were wearing long gowns of peach crepe knit and carried nosegay arrangements of peach carnations.

David Lindley of Canyon was best man. Groomsmen were Dennis Collier and Richard Barker, both of Canyon. The best man and groomsmen wore brown tuxedoes with ruffled shirts matching the colors worn by the bridal party.

Ushering were Ricky Sturgill of Skellytown, Roy Halsell of Waco, Jimmy Brown of Leander, Texas, and Dale Timmons of Goldsmith, Texas.

The wedding reception was held afterward in fellowship hall of the church with hostesses including Miss Sandra Goodin of Claude, Miss Melinda Forney of Booker, Mrs. Pearline Halsell of Waco, Mrs. Betty Brown of Leander, and Mrs. Nancy Timmons of Goldsmith.

A three-tiered heart shaped wedding cake decorated with peach and yellow roses on each tier was served at the bride's table along with a peach punch. Centering the table was a bride doll which had been made by an aunt of the bride.

The groom's table was laid with a crochet tablecloth made by his mother and a German chocolate cake with coffee was served from the table.

For a wedding trip to the Dallas area, the bride changed to a peach toned gabardine pantsuit with floral top. Her corsage was lifted from the bridal bouquet.

The couple will be living at 2710 8th Avenue in Canyon. The bride plans to continue her college education at West Texas State University and is a 1975 graduate of Booker High School. The bridegroom, a 1974 graduate of Odessa High School, formerly attended WTSU and is now employed with the university.

nee Veronica May Sturgill

Lions open homes to foreign students

Forty-three students from 20 countries stopped overnight in Canyon as part of a six-week summer camp sponsored by the Lions' clubs.

Here to see "TEXAS," the students were fed and lodged in Lions' club members' homes Thursday.

The Julian Hager Youth Camp, begun about three years ago, is planned to improve international communication and peaceful relations, said Dr. Kenneth Waugh, treasurer of the Noon Lions.

The students must pass stringent tests of their ability to communicate through writing and extemporaneous speech.

Some of the students pay their fare to the United States to attend the camp and others are sponsored by Lions clubs in their nation. All costs here are paid by the Lions clubs of America.

Students came from the United States, Finland, Denmark, Sweden, Germany, Norway, the Netherlands, France, Italy, Turkey, Austria, South Africa, Mexico, India, New Zealand, Australia, Canada, Japan, Israel and the Ivory Coast.

From here, they will go to Four Sixes Ranch, to Levelland, to Monahans, Carlsbad, El Paso, Big Bend, San Antonio, Brownsville, Houston and the Gulf Coast.

The camp will include a two-week tour, two weeks at the camp site near Dallas and two weeks living with an American family.

SEMESTER RITUAL — Check your class cards and write your name on a half dozen computer cards. The registration scene at WTSU changes little from semester to semester. Students signed up for the second summer session Thursday and began classes Friday.

THERE WILL BE pre-show entertainment at the Monday evening show of "TEXAS" in Palo Duro Canyon. At 7:45 p.m. on the patio area of the Pioneer Amphitheatre a troupe of young dancers from Georgia will be presenting authentic mountain clog dances.

The Little General Cloggers and the General Cloggers, who range in age from 4 to 14, will dance the clog and combine the routine with square dancing as a pre-show entertainment for those attending the musical drama that evening.

DESPITE HOT SUMMER afternoons, there hasn't been a grand opening for a "lemonade and koolaid stand" on the city streets yet.

Guess the city's youngest businessmen and ladies are waiting for cooler afternoons to set up their booths.
